VIEW FROM THE TOP

The Board of Election Commissioners (BOEC) has since 1986 issued an annual/biennial report recapping activities and elections during the previous two year election cycle. Beginning with this edition, the St. Louis County Board of Election Biennial Reports will be published in electronic format on our website with limited paper copies to save on printing costs. The previous Biennial Reports are also available on our website.

www.stlouisco.com/elections

The 2010 mid-term General election will be remembered as a “change election” in the United States and Missouri. The change began however in April 2010 with the successful Metro link vote. That vote was a complete turnaround of the previous unsuccessful November 2008 transit vote. A comparison of the two elections, with maps, is included on pages 11 and 12 of this report.

In November 2010, a disgruntled electorate, feeling the pain of the recession and high unemployment, took to the polls and voiced their opinions. The Democrats, the party in power prior to the General election, lost their majority with Republicans winning 228 seats in the U.S. House, an eight member majority.

In Missouri it was much the same. Republicans picked up additional support in both houses of the legislature, standing now at 26 of 34 seats in the Senate; and 105 of 163 in the House.

With just under one million residents, St. Louis County has by far the largest population in Missouri. Because of our smorgasbord of socio-economic groups, the base of which has tended to be increasingly urbanized, Democrats held onto almost all of their House seats; giving up only the 85th and 100th districts in far South St. Louis County. On the Senate side, Republicans regained control of the mid-county 24th district, historically a swing district.

The demographics of St. Louis County, however, continue to present a tough hill for out-state or national Republican candidates running locally. Both Democrat Robin Carnahan, running for U.S. Senate, and Susan Montee, Democratic State Auditor incumbent, carried the county easily, while losing statewide to Republicans Roy Blunt and Tom Schweich.

The reality of St. Louis County politics was again brought into focus last fall when Bill Corrigan, a well-funded and widely respected Republican candidate for County Executive, lost the election to incumbent Democrat Charlie Dooley by a scant 16,000 votes. Check out the spreadsheet on page 9 and the map on page 10 to see where the votes came from.

ON THE ADMINISTRATIVE SIDE OF THE ELECTION OFFICE, which of course is where our focus is, we continue to watch the bottom line: the cost of elections; a cost ultimately footed by the taxpayer. Comparing the cost per registered voter last November ($1.51) to the same mid-term General election four years ago ($1.52), we find we've been doing a good job holding the line to a "zero" growth rate, sacrificing nothing for accuracy.

Voters continue to migrate to touch screen voting verses optical scan (fill-in the oval) paper ballots. When given the choice of touch screen or paper ballots, voters continue to choose the touch screen 80-85% of the time. We anticipate this percentage may increase as voters become more comfortable with the touch screen voting system that is available. See the spreadsheet showing the voting trends by township included in the report.

Both the touch screen and optical scan methods of voting continue to prove their accuracy in recounts over the former punch card ballot system. In the 10 recounts we have conducted since we migrated to electronic voting in August 2006 only 54 votes have been changed on paper ballots and none in touch screen. This translates to 1 out of every 1,800 paper ballots that failed to adequately reflect the voter's intent. This compares to 1 out of 1,000 during former punch card recounts. A detailed breakdown of those recounts is contained on page 18 of this report.

Accuracy is always important when holding elections, even when not close enough for a recount. The BOEC audits unofficial final results every election before Official Final Results are published. We compare the number of voter signatures and tickets to the number of votes recorded in the official vote totals. As part of that audit we perform manual hand counts on 5% of randomly selected races which can amount to 25 hand recounts in a large election.

This kind of accuracy should lead to an even higher degree of voter confidence in the integrity of the process.

One of the provisions of the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA) mandated that each state develop a statewide database of registered voters. Prior to that time, Missouri's 116 election authorities maintained their own voter lists, completely independent of those of surrounding counties. The potential problems with this approach are obvious: voters in St. Louis County could also be registered in St. Louis, St. Charles County, etc. While the instances of voter fraud were rare, the perception was, rightly, that it was possible. Now, as registrations are entered anywhere in Missouri, the system scans the lists statewide to identify and automatically delete duplicate, outdated records.

Planning and preparations are already underway for the 2012 presidential election cycle. Training for the Presidential Primary, which may be changed to March from February, will begin in December 2011. We will continue to strive for excellence in the implementation and execution of the four major elections that are slated for 2012.

The Board of Elections appreciates the support of the County's voters and the many entities it serves. Please feel free to contact us if you have any comments.

Respectfully,

Joseph E. Donahue

Election Summaries

In Missouri, there are five authorized election days per year; the Tuesday following the first Monday in February, April, June, August and November. A county-wide election requires the coordination of multiple factors. Each of the 446-450 polling places needs to be staffed with 6 to 8 (up to 14 in a Presidential election) judges. Ballots need to be printed and voting equipment needs to be delivered to the polls. The following summaries include the costs associated with the eight elections held in 2009 and 2010.

February 3, 2009 – Supplemental Election

Cost:	$21,539
Cost Per Ballot Cast:	$10.54

November 2008 Vote Percentage for Proposition M

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A YEAR MAKES! In November 2008 Proposition M, a sales tax increase for Metro operations and expansion, failed to pass voter approval with only ten of the 28 township approving the measure. Many think that its inclusion on the already lengthy presidential ballot, and the resulting 48,849 undervotes, contributed to the failure.

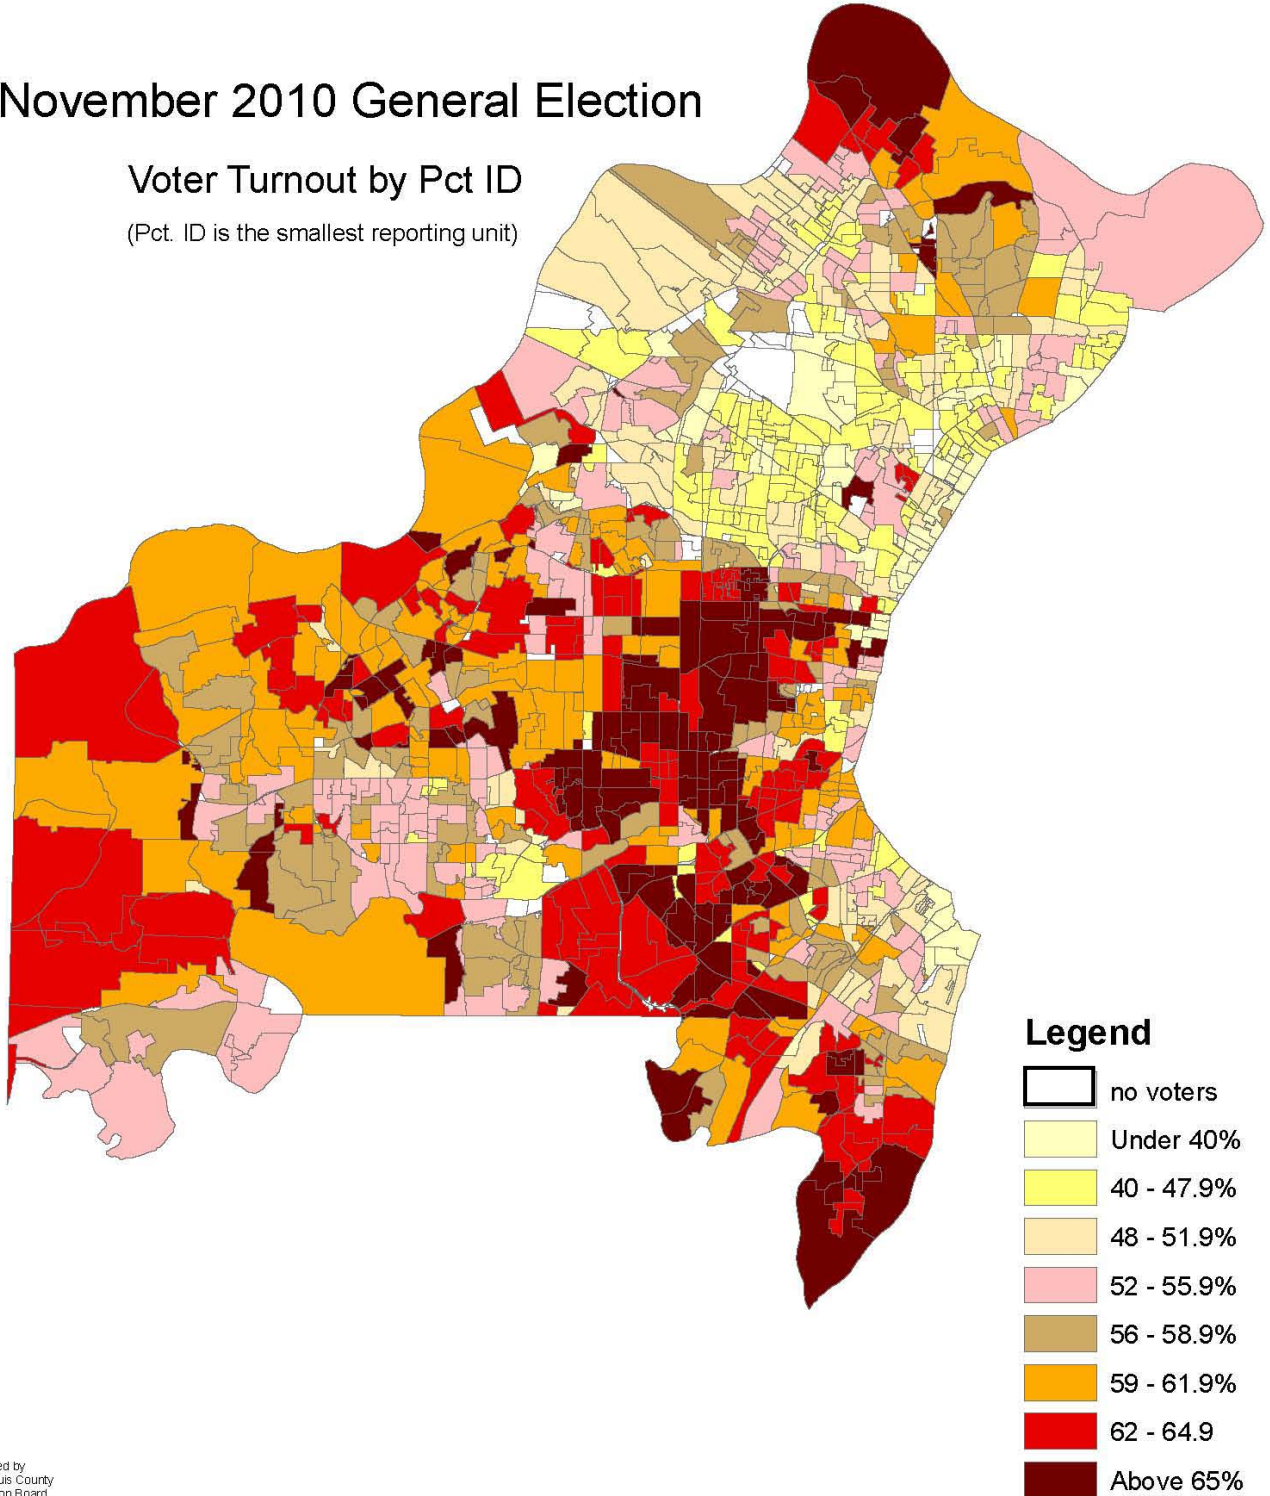

The 17 months between the two elections made all the difference. County voters clearly did an abrupt about-face in 2010 when faced with the imminent threat of draconian cuts in transportation services. Stop-gap funding had been approved by the legislature, but state officials warned this was at best only a short-term solution. The County Council again placed the issue, this time called Proposition A, on the April 2010 Municipal election ballot.

Proposition A headed the 2010 April Municipal ballot which contained fewer issues. It was approved by 62% of the voters with favorable percentages in 23 of 28 townships. In April 2010 there were only 929 undervotes and a turnout of 22.23% compared to the 78.62% turnout during the November 2008 presidential election.

Summary of Hand Recounts - 2006 thru 2010

Pursuant to Missouri State law a candidate who loses by less than 1% is entitled to a hand recount of the ballots if requested. Since we transitioned from punch card to electronic voting in August 2006 we have conducted ten recounts. During punch card recounts it could be anticipated that there might be a vote change for every 1,000 ballots cast. With optical scan paper ballots we have experienced one change for every 1,805 ballots recounted and the only time a touch screen vote changed was when a voter entered a listed candidate on the write-in line. Electronic voting, especially touch screen, has proved to correctly capture the voter's intent.

In addition to the ten SOS or Court ordered hand recounts the Board of Elections, as part of its audit before releasing the Official Election Results, conducts hand recounts of a contest in 5% of the polling places each election.

Every Vote Counts

The old saying that "every vote counts" is never truer than during the April Municipal General elections each year.

In April 2009 the Marlborough Trustee race had a tie with 2 candidates receiving 37 votes each. Also in that election three races were decided by 1 vote (Bella Villa Ward 1 & 2 at 41-40 and 26-25 and Pasadena Hills Ward 1 at 81-80) and three races were decided by 3 votes each (Beckenridge Hills Ward 2 at 56-53, Northwoods Ward 1 at 138-135 and Valley Park Ward 4 at 163-160).

The Bella Villa Mayor race in April 2010 resulted in another tie with each candidate receiving 76 votes. Again three races were decided by a single vote (Greendale Ward 2 with 38 for the listed candidate and 37 for a write-in, Pasadena Park Trustee with candidates at 42-41 and Woodson Terrace Ward 1 at 110-109), St. Ann Ward 2 by 2 votes 157-155, and three races were decided by only 3 votes (Bella Villa Ward 2 at 20-17, Ferguson Ward 1 at 544-541 and Town & Country Ward 3 at 204-201).
